Visibility at Scale: Assessing and Monitoring Vendors, Suppliers and Third-Party Risks

The question is simple: Are my vendors (and their vendors) safe to do business with? However, getting the answer isn't as straightforward as it would seem. Some vendors take months to respond to risk assessments (or don't respond at all), while others make you dig through their security and trust webpages or a lengthy InfoSec whitepaper or audit report. And the challenge continues as vendor risks change over time and require ongoing monitoring. Many teams that manage vendor, supplier, and third-party risks encounter similar time-consuming and costly challenges. To combat these common complexities, organizations are searching for a simpler way to find secure vendors, perform initial due diligence, and maintain oversight on critical vendor risks.
